O'Boyle, Cowell, Blalock & Associates, Inc. (OCBA) was retained by Slocum Associates, Architects to prepare design concepts for a playground and spray park for the aquatic center at the new North Pointe YMCA Day Camp. The OCBA team conducted a two-day design charrette and developed a preliminary master plan for the new day camp facility for the YMCA of Greater Rochester in 2002.

OCBA selected the playground and spray park equipment, worked with the YMCA to facilitate the decision to use a recirculating water system, and laid out the equipment and other amenities within the aquatic center development. The spray park construction was completed in 2006.
